

AQUAVISION®
television evolved

Originators of in-wall and waterproof televisions

In 1997 Aquavision pioneered in-wall and waterproof televisions

Since creating the world's first waterproof television, Aquavision's innovation team have remained market leaders and developed a network of professional partners worldwide.

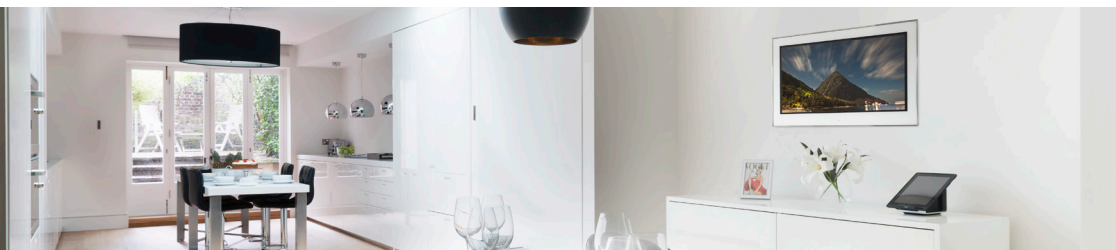

Often copied but never equalled, purchasing an Aquavision means acquiring the core values at the heart of this British success story:

Ingenuity, Quality and Reliability

Aquavision offers customers an unrivalled choice of sizes, styles and finishes coupled with an emphasis on innovative, future-proof technologies. With screen sizes from 16" to 85" and a choice of glass colours, there is an Aquavision to blend into every room setting. No cables, no visible connections, just a television to enhance your room design.

With this in mind, it is hardly surprising that Aquavision have gained the reputation of being "The preferred choice of the Professional".

A balance of elegance and substance make up part of our recipe for producing world class, hand built, high performance televisions
